Supernatural - Cas/Gabe/Sam - Gabriel accidently gets high on Mint... this makes him very cuddly.

PG, adorable as all get out, all I could think was 'catnip!' So one word summary: Kittybriel.

"Did a plant explode in here or what?" Sam asks, staring at how green the ceiling is. And how green the walls are, the sofa, the carpet.

Castiel shrugs helplessly from his position on the floor, holding a lapful of purring archangel.

As Gabriel is curled up in Cas' lap, eyes closed, looking for all the world like an over-sized cat, an effect that's only made worse by how he's purring.

"What happened?" Sam asks, and eeps as Gabriel jumps up, bounding over to him and hugging him tightly, still purring.

"...mint," Cas says dryly, and stands up. "It...changes him."

"Like catnip?"

Cas blinks at him, not understanding, so Sam shrugs and hugs Gabriel back.

Gabriel makes a whuffling sound and sticks his head under Sam's arm, then slides down and hugs his leg.

"...how long until this wears off?"

Castiel shrugs his shoulders again, and reaches down to touch Gabriel's head.

"I would estimate several hours," Castiel says. "Longer if we neglect to remove the mint."

Sam watches as Gabriel climbs up Castiel's coat until he's standing again and hugs him tightly and sighs fondly.

"I'll get the hose."